A photograph of a vehicle departure area. In the foreground, a series of 13 yellow and black striped concrete barriers are arranged in a line, curving to the right. To the right of the barriers, there is a stack of several black tires and a blue and white striped pole. In the background, there is a small white building with a window, a few people walking, and a large white fence made of corrugated metal. Trees and power lines are visible in the distance. The sky is overcast.
